

GAME RULES

1: Unless otherwise specified, each clue will be considered complete once you've submitted a the photo of the thing you're supposed to find. This is when the next clue will be sent to you.

2: Each clue is worth 1 point.

3: If you're really truly stumped, you can send a message that reads, "PASS!" to get your next clue.

4: As long as you've completed all 10 clues, the team that completes their hunt first gets an extra 5 points; 2nd place gets four points, 3rd gets 3 points, etc.

5: There are 10 optional EXTRA CREDIT tasks to complete along the way. Their point values correspond directly to their levels of difficulty (1-10).

6: Each team gets one 'Phone or Text a Friend' and three Googles. (This is an honor system. We know you'll do the right thing.)

7: Once you've completed your final clue, join the other teams for a drink at:
Buffalo Billiards, 118 Chestnut Street.

EXTRA CREDIT

---

- 1 point: Take a picture of a Liberty Bell out in the wild (but not the Liberty Bell).
- 2 points: Take a picture of someone from your team with a Colonial-era impersonator (must be in Colonial-era dress).
- 3 points: Take a picture of someone on your team using a boot scraper.
- 4 points: Take a video of a stranger singing 'Fly, Eagles, Fly.'
- 5 points: To the team that collects the highest # of photos of Benjamin Franklin busts and sculptures out in the wild. (Did you know Philly has the most?)
- 6 points: Take a video (one minute max) of someone on your team telling a story about the Most Philly Thing he or she ever did – while standing next to a Once Upon a Nation storytelling bench.
- 7 points: Take a picture of a Toynbee Tile.
- 8 points: Take a group selfie in front of one of Bresslergroup's first three office locations.
- 9 points: Collect an item with a Wawa logo. (Bring it to Buffalo Billiards to claim your points!)
- 10 points: Find and photograph a Bresslergroup-designed product in the wild.

CLUE CARD

1

Find the three signs featuring bovines hanging off of the giant train shed just over yonder.

Send pictures of all three!

CLUE CARD

2

Can you find the building that boasts one of Philly's finest Art Deco storefronts? The first Horn & Hardart Automat opened here in 1902. An old sign is a clue.

Send a picture!

CLUE CARD

3

Originally named Carstairs Row, this section of Center City is the oldest diamond district in America. Find the store people allegedly love to (according to its billboards).

Send a picture!

CLUE CARD

4

This amazing piece of art, commissioned by Cyrus Curtis, weighs more than 4 tons and is designated as Philadelphia's first "historic object".

Send a picture!

CLUE CARD

5

It's said this guy turned down an offer to be king. It's also said he had wooden teeth. We don't know for sure if either is true but we do know this likeness of him towers over this eponymous square.

Send a picture!

CLUE CARD

6

The First Continental Congress met inside this building to debate for seven intense weeks during the steamy summer of 1774.

Send a picture!

CLUE CARD

7

This Venturi-designed "house" won't provide much shelter from the rain.

Send a picture!

CLUE CARD

8

This is where you'd go to consume a tube of Toblerone and a critically acclaimed coming-of-age story.

Send a picture!

CLUE CARD

9

In 1775, these cannons would have been used in the Revolutionary War, but now they're used to signal your arrival at Philadelphia's newest museum.

Send a picture!

CLUE CARD

10

Head in the clouds - this open-air museum celebrates the life and accomplishments of Pennsylvania's founder. Walk through the mini city laid out in marble on the ground, and take a picture of where you think our office is located on the plans. Send a picture!